12	I believe this organization works very hard to use data to drive decision-making, works very hard to create long term and short term goals and objectives from that data, and keeps what's best for kids as it's driving force, while working to bust barriers. I believe it works hard to collaborate with and provide excellence in service for it's constituent districts keeping their individual needs in mind. I believe our technology and special education service delivery and leadership are unmatched. Our general education supports as well, from our school improvement and curriculum consultants to our CTE staff provide student-focused services working to meet the needs of the districts. Our board and ISD administrators are supportive and deliver guidance, while helping to break down barriers. They trust the work of their employees and hold us to high expectations, but also deliver the resources needed to do our work well. It is a great partnership. In most cases there is great communication of the work that is being done. Another great aspect of this organization that is not really mentioned in this survey is the incredible and constant outreach to the community that is a regular occurrence here at MAISD. There are numerous programs, resources, partnerships, and services that the ISD is a part of that benefit the community members throughout the year. This organization, through the leadership of it's administration team and fully through other individual employees, on their own time, throughout the organization, reach out again, and again, in service to the community.	10/21/2014 9:35 AM

17	It would be nice to see more uniform decisions at an ISD level. I had the opportunity to attend some PD at an ISD in the southern part of the state this summer. I was overwhelmed by the camaraderie between the different schools, the uniformity of the decisions, and the support they provided each other because they were on the same page as a county in terms of staff evaluation (this was not the only thing they all came to an agreement on).	10/9/2014 9:37 PM

37	Foster a culture where all employees believe that their thoughts and ideas are important. I also think that we do a really good job of sending our people to worthwhile PD opportunities, but we don't always offer the best PD workshops for teachers in local districts. We make an effort to find out what kinds of PD local teachers need and want, and then offer those PD opportunities. I especially think that we should be fostering professional learning networks. We should bring all the middle school science teachers (for example) together from across the county, offer a few ideas and updates for their classroom, and then give them time to network and share what happens in their classroom. Then we should set them all up in a listserve/twitter account and keep them all connected. We could do this for all sorts of different curricular areas.	10/7/2014 10:46 AM

Those families who have benefited from the ISD's services are few in comparison with the total tax paying population. Like it or not the MAISD needs to keep a presence in FRONT of the public if they wish to garner broad support in the future including millage requests.	10/7/2014 9:18 AM
44	I think that we need to build better relationships with locals and within our ISD. I think we do this by working together with them and asking what they need.
